

KEEP CLOSE, ALL YEAR

A year of little green rituals

Use the season as a reminder to look. Let the plant, pot and room decide what happens next.

Spring / Notice the new growth

- Look for fresh leaves and roots before changing the routine.
- Check whether each pot drains and whether growth or roots suggest repotting.
- Adjust feeding to actual growth and the product label.

Summer / Check the room

- Notice direct vent airflow and changing window light.
- Check soil moisture before watering, even on a familiar schedule.
- Prepare a plant sitter handoff and a storm plan before travel.

Autumn / Bring a little care indoors

- Inspect plants and pots when moving them into the house.
- Recheck the light as the sun's angle changes.
- Review the watering routine after a move or room change.

Winter / Follow the plant's pace

- Watch forecasts for vulnerable plants on the lanai.
- Check moisture and new growth before watering or feeding.
- Keep care notes so your next check has something to compare.

A note on sources

UF/IFAS: Caring for Houseplants

Clemson Extension: Indoor Plants, Watering

evergreenhouseplantcare.com

